Southeast News.

The Perry County Sun has entered its thirty-first year. May it continue to shine and prosper as it grows older.

Sikeston is to have a new house of worship, the contract having been let for a $6000 building for the Christian church at that place.

Charleston Enterprise.

The Cairo branch of the Iron Mountain underwent an inspection during the last week preparatory to rebuilding the line, it is said. New ties and steel rails have been partially distributed along the road, wherever needed, and it has been given out that they will ballast the road.

At Deniphan, last Thursday, a jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree against Frank Reynolds for killing his wife, Bettie Reynolds, at her home, one mile north of town, January 12. The punishment imposed by the verdict is imprisonment in the penitentiary for life.

Fred Harris, colored, who had been quietly helping himself to any merchandise he fancied to the stock of Schwaneke Brothers, at Fredericktown, was taken in the other night, plead guilty when arraigned before Judge Killian, and his postoffice address, the next three years will be Jefferson City.

New Madrid Record.

The story is told that Gov. Hadley, in his speech at Marley, stated that Missouri now has a republican governor for the first time in forty years, and paused to let that important fact sink into the minds of his audience, when some fellow in the crowd growled out loud enough to be heard by all, "Well, that's often enough!"

Cape Girardeau News.

The boasted climate of California has no "edge" on weather conditions of southeast Missouri. The present month has been the most remarkable one ever known by the very oldest, old inhabitant—a month without killing frosts or steels or rains, with the gardens growing nicely and all kinds of fruit trees in full bloom.

Charles Arnold has become editor and manager of the Cape Girardeau News, succeeding Samuel W. Davis, who will become manager of the Poplar Bluff Times-Democrat. Mr. Arnold is a graduate of the University of Missouri, and is the first man upon whom the degree, Bachelor of Science in Journalism, was ever conferred. He has bought a controlling interest in the company. We wish Mr. Arnold all kinds of prosperity.

Dunklin Democrat.

The morning of March 30 fire destroyed a lumber shed and five dwellings, the property of J. H. Sanders, along the Frisco railroad, north of the oil mill. A small lot of lumber and some planing mill machinery, the property of C. A. Petty, were burned or injured. The blaze was first noticed in the mill shed, and is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The buildings were occupied by a Mrs. Evans, a family named Probst, one named Askew (or O'Brien), Mr. Sands and the largest one, a house of 8 rooms, by Mrs. Annie Breece as a boarding in a case of trespass is a suit for damages against the trespasser. Judge Killian is of opinion that the repeal of section No. 2302 by the new law was an oversight and that it will work a great hardship on land owners.

Possum Creek.

Here I come again with a few items.

Health is good and school teachers plentiful.

We had a beautiful rain Sunday night and Monday which was a great help to growing crops.

Grandma Baker, who has spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, is spending a few weeks visiting among her other children.

Ben. Wiltener visited his sister, Mrs. Enock Underwood, Saturday night. Mr. Wiltener is a prosperous farmer of Marquand and is thinking of buying a farm in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius McLane of Lutesville visited their daughter, Mrs. J. A. Lutes, Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Harry Hay filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

C. E. Dunn was on Cape creek the latter part of last week prospecting for concrete business and reports success. He is onto his job when it comes to concrete work and anyone desiring to make improvements of this kind should interview him about it.

Charles Swan of Cassin river was the guest of his brother-in-law, J. A. Lutes, Saturday night.

The singing group at Mr. Cahy's last Thursday night was enjoyed by all present.

Several of our young people attended church at Lutesville Easter Sunday and all report an enjoyable day.

Miss Clara Bragg spent Saturday night with Miss Burtie Thomas.

Enoch Underwood and C. E. Dunn purchased a fine horse from P. M. Baker recently.

N. D. Hahn purchased a new school house last week which greatly improved the appearance of the property.

Fred McLutes sold some fine hay recently.

Several of our young people attended church at Lutesville Saturday night and Sunday both report that Rev. Munroe preached excellent sermons.

Robert Hahn and Juan Chagall have bought a new 20000000 and are prepared to make sweet stuff next fall.

Enoch Underwood sold a team of fine coach horses recently.

Several of our farmers have planted corn, and have garden "truck" set out. That's going some, isn't it, Mr. Editor?

Miss Burtie Thomas called on Miss Nellie Cahy Saturday.

Mrs. J. P. Dunn was in the sick list a few days last week.

Wheat looks fine in this part of the domain and promises one of the best crops in years.

P. M. Baker passed thru our neighborhood Monday.

Mrs. Susan Lutes of Lutesville visited on our creek a few days ago.

Well, Mr. Editor, as news is scarce, I'll not write much this time. We probably have lots of news, but I am just working too hard to get out and catch it.

Hoping you will be successful in a tall measure, and that a big victory will be won by the democracy in the coming November election. I will await the happy event.

Yours as ever, L. E. Kender.

Mrs. E. Kinder

house. Some of the contents of the four small houses were saved, and practically all of Mrs. Breece's. Mr. Sanders had $1350 insurance on the five buildings.

Lead Belt News.

As the result of Easter festivities indulged in by the Pollocks near Jaybird mill eight of them were fined $5 and costs in Squire Fraser's court on a charge of disturbing the peace. Their celebration broke up in a general drunken fight, and a stray bottle thrown by one of them struck a child, probably fatally injuring it. Frank Montgomery, aged about $5, who lived near Davis crossing and worked for the Federal Lead company in the Derby shaft, was killed by falling rock Monday night. It was Montgomery's duty to go through the mine and look after the loose rock, and it was while acting in this capacity that he met his death. He leaves a wife and four small children. All of the twenty four diamond drills of the Federal Lead company that have been idle during the winter months will soon be in operation. The company has been sending out the machines for several days and a number are already in operation in the territory around No. 9 shaft. The Lead Belt bank and Bank of Bonne Terre have practically effected a deal whereby the former is to absorb the latter institution. The capital stock of the Lead Belt bank will thereby be increased from $12,500 to $15,000.

Fredericktown Democrat-News.

In the case of Mike Deguire, charged with hunting without a license, Judge Killian sustained a demurrer and ordered the defendant discharged. Judge Killian stated that the attorney general has held that a man can hunt unprotected game without a license, and that the mere fact that one is out with a gun and dog is not evidence that he is hunting protected game; therefore if a man has a right to hunt unprotected game without a license the burden of proof is then on the state to show that he was hunting pro-TECTED game and thereby violating the game law. Then in regard to hunting within inclosures, he quotes sec. 2301 Rev. Statutes of 1889, as follows: "Every person who shall be found hunting with gun or dog within the enclosure of another or shall enter to catch or kill game of any kind without the consent of the owner or person in charge of such enclosure, shall, on complaint of such owner or person in charge, be fined not exceeding $10." In the amendments to the game law passed by the legislature in 1909 section 2302, cited above, was repealed, along with a lot of other sections of this law, so that now the only recourse of the owner of the land
